

Business Analyst – Technical, Software

Your role within the company eShare’s vision is to drive better decision making and good governance within businesses. Our software is used by directors across the globe.

We are looking for a Business Analyst to be the vital link between our Product, Development and Stakeholder teams as we develop our market leading products. As the Business Analyst you will have the drive and determination to engage with senior stakeholders and product owners to gather key requirements that will drive our products forward. Working in an agile fast paced environment you will work on key projects that have been identified to consolidate and grow the customer base.

Job Specification

Reports To	Tim Haines (Head of Product Management)
Duties & Responsibilities	<ul style="list-style-type: none">  Be an active participant in product feature and roadmap discussions to identify business and product expectations  Formulating functional designs & specifications for new features and enhancements  Working closely with development team to deliver detailed feature descriptions and workflows  Be the interface between technical, product and stakeholder teams reporting issues and requirements  Reviewing UX designs and product releases to ensure the business requirements are met

The Candidate

Essential

-  Technical Business Analyst experience
-  Working within an agile environment
-  Excellent communication skills
-  Attention to detail
-  Experience writing user stories and flow diagrams
-  Self management of time across multiple projects

An understanding of

-  Testing / QA Management
-  Software development
-  UX Design

Contact us

Phone : 0845 200 7829
 Email : recruitment@eshare.co.uk
 Website : www.boardpacks.com